

Many of Our Money Truths Are Not Wholly True

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

When we come to apply to the Social Credit doctrine and to the Townsend Plan some of the money dogmas which we have come to look upon as basic truths, outcrops of inconsistency and of insufficient proof make their appearance.

For instance, a very well-meaning and scientific gentleman publishes a dissection of the Townsend Plan, says he would be all for it should there be any way to make it work; but that the turnover tax of two per cent on every transaction to raise the fund for redemption of the Townsend Plan cheque ignores the fact that there is not a profit on every stage of a transaction, and that, as taxes can only be paid out of profits, the Townsend Plan must collapse immediately the total tax exceeds the total profit.

This has a truthful sound; but the truthful sound becomes weaker when one remembers that the eight per cent sales tax is collected without any reference to profits. It is certain that to the extent to which sales tax can be collected without reference to profit, the dogmas of the scientific gentleman are not wholly true. It is another case of not proven; because unless wholly true they may not be true at all.

Then we come to the Aberhart Prosperity Certificates or scrip. Everything the sound money advocates urge against these certificates has a truthful sound, unless and until you remember that for many years prior to the founding of the Central Bank of Canada we did business on bank notes issued by the chartered banks and insured for payment by an "Insurance Fund" collected and maintained by the Government of Canada.

In the event of a bank going broke the notes were redeemed out of the Insurance Fund at par plus interest from the day the bank stopped payment.

From this it is plain that the public paid interest for use of the bank notes so long as the issuing bank remained solvent; this interest being for the privilege of using the bank notes as a circulating medium. This is only a difference in price and in accounting as compared with our scrip in which interest is paid out of the bank notes, instead of continuing to waive the right to interest for the privilege of using the notes as a circulating medium.

Under the Aberhart Government plan it seems that the charge for the use of the certificates is to be collected at stated periods and at fixed percentages. This is only a difference in price and in accounting as compared with our scrip in which interest is paid out of the bank notes prior to the formation of the Central Bank. There is no difference in principle.

In the case of the bank notes we had the Insurance Fund as an ultimate security; in the case of the certificates we have the credit of the Province of Alberta as the ultimate security.

It is plain therefore that the sound money wails about the unsoundness of the certificates are not wholly true. The charge for using may be too high; but this could be corrected. The public may not like the certificates; then it will be a case of no sale; but the charge of inherent unsoundness goes too far. Maybe the public is losing more money by the exactions of the money fakers than will have to be paid for the use of the certificates.

Only time and experience, or as it is sometimes termed, (fals) and error, will establish the real truth. Should there be any calamity the operators of the money fakers brought it on.

NAZIS DEMAND FULL CONTROL OF FREE CITY

Would Oust League's High Commissioner From Danzig

GENEVA, July 6.—A Nazi demand for complete control of Danzig under a new high commissioner was before the League of Nations Saturday night.

Rising before the assembly gathered for a League Council meeting, Arthur Greiser, president of the free city's Nazi-controlled senate, urged that Sen. Lester B. Pearson, high commissioner for Danzig, be ousted and a new commissioner appointed.

RUMBLING OF PROTEST

"I throw my resentment full in the face of the League high commissioner," he shouted, turning toward the Irish League official, who sat impassively at the head of the row.

As the rumbles of protest gathered in the room, Greiser shouted: "The situation in Danzig before the advent of the Nazis constituted a powder keg in eastern Europe. The League through its actions runs the risk of exploding it. Everything would go better in Danzig without any high commissioner at all."

TO OCCUPY DANZIG

The defiant declaration of Greiser arose coincident with reports carried in French papers that the German military commander for the Kommandatura, General von Helldorf, already had received instructions to prepare lists of army troops destined to occupy Danzig, as was done in the Rhineland.

ADVANCE BODY PREPARES FOR SCALING PEAK

Sets Up Quarters at Foot of Towering Mount Waddington

VANCOUVER, July 6.—A six-man advance party of the British Columbia mountaineering club's Mount Waddington expedition Sunday hiked through the bush along the bank of the Franklin river on an eight-mile trek from the head of Knight Inlet to the foot of Franklin Glacier.

Provisions and equipment were landed Thursday from the cruiser "Tranquila" and the party headed by Bill Taylor, Vancouver mountaineer, established temporary headquarters.

Lashed to packboards and the men left Saturday to establish camp near the foot of the glacier, from which point supplies will be relayed either to Saffron, Creek or to Lord's Peak, at an altitude of 5,000 feet, the last of a series of peaks to be climbed.

Four experts from the Sierra club of California and one from Alberta will join three other members of the British Columbia club here next week, and the final climbing party will start on Monday.

"Two other expeditions are now pressing toward Mount Waddington," said Taylor.

Former Chinese Minister Slain

HONGKONG, July 6.—T. C. Ching, former Chinese finance minister, was reported to have been shot Sunday by a Chinese who fired three shots, mortally wounding the minister, and then fled.

It was believed the murder had a political motive. Police there ordered a dragnet for the assassin and began an investigation.

Business Girls Are Urged To Take Part In Broader Activities of Community

PROVOKING lively and interesting comment, two round-table discussions held by Mrs. Richard Byrnes-Johnson, of Calgary, and Mrs. Richard Byrnes-Johnson of Edmonton, featured the evening sessions of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of the Corolla Hotel on Saturday afternoon. There were 15 members in attendance from Calgary and from Edmonton, representing the representation from Edmonton, Miss Margaret Thompson, president of the Edmonton club, presided.

Mrs. Lewis, president of the Calgary club, presided during the first part of the discussion on the subject: "The Part Our Club Should Play in Public Affairs."

POTENTIAL POWER IN CLUB UNITY

Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Lewis, "should and do offer opportunities for social, intellectual, and mental stimulation." Club women organized and intelligently interested in the potential power of their service. She urged the members to perform distinct and worth while community service. She suggested that members not on advisory committees on the Local Council of Women, Trades and Professions committees on government advisory bodies, where the particular interest of business women were concerned.

It was agreed by the members that the industrial revolution, not forward relations direct to the government, but to the first exhibit the subject matter of the Alberta women's club, which would forward it to the other Alberta clubs for their approval. It should be the duty of the club to the approval of the majority of the members. It was felt that if this procedure were adopted, and that the members would not be disappointed, and that the members would not be disappointed, and that the members would not be disappointed.

TO AFFILIATE WITH LOCAL COUNCIL COMMITTEE

Members suggested that the club be encouraged to seek representation on the Local Council of Women, and that the club be encouraged to seek representation on the Local Council of Women, and that the club be encouraged to seek representation on the Local Council of Women.

Members suggested that the club be encouraged to seek representation on the Local Council of Women, and that the club be encouraged to seek representation on the Local Council of Women, and that the club be encouraged to seek representation on the Local Council of Women.

Mrs. Lewis was accorded a hearty ovation for her contribution to the discussion, in which she had led the discussion.

Mrs. Richard Byrnes-Johnson of Edmonton, Alberta representative on the Legislative Council of the Federation, gave an interesting report on recent legislation passed by the Federation.

AID STENOGRAPHERS

Members of the Federation of Stenographers were discussed and some interesting information was revealed in connection with the provision of the Ministry of Labour. The members expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Byrnes-Johnson for her report.

Mrs. and Mrs. K. P. Wilson are at home again from a trip to Toronto and other cities of eastern Canada.

Oil Tresses To Make Them Soft And Neat

By GLADYS GLAD
"Way back in Clio's time, it is said, permanent waving was not an unknown art. The permanent waving procedure in that garden of Eden, however, was a pretty mean one. The Egyptian women would rub their hair around small stones and then wash it with oil. The hair would be so soft and curly with mud from the banks of the Nile. Then the arrangement was permitted to take in the hot sun for hours. And after the baking the mud was cracked off and the hair combed out.
Personally, I don't imagine that that grotesque sun-baking was particularly beneficial to the hair. For while the sun and air was excellent for the hair and scalp in proper doses, overexposure is as bad for the hair as it is for the skin. Of course, during the hot baking-sunbathing summer days, the hair generally receives a good bit of sunbathing. But the thing to do always is to give it some measure of protection from the sun's rays. And what with beach umbrellas, floppy beach hats and wide-brimmed straw hats, that isn't much of a task.
That big girl athlete who takes her tennis, golfing and swimming seriously, however, often refuses to be bothered with a hat. She is a blonde Eleanor Whitney, who has the beach, a Helen Will when she is on the tennis court, and Helen Nicks when she is on the golf links. She's out for sport, and forgets about her hair or any other part of her personal appearance.
However, there's a means of protection for even such feminine wits.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should be kept in good shape. It is the largest internal organ in the body and it is the liver that filters the blood and sends it out to the rest of the body. If the liver is not working properly, the blood will be impure and the body will suffer. The liver is also responsible for the production of bile, which is necessary for the digestion of food. If the liver is not working properly, the digestion of food will be impaired and the body will suffer. Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

After a Boy is Married He Owes His Affection and Love First to His New Wife—The Mother Should Understand That Her Interests Become Secondary

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married for three months to a Mother's Boy. We started out fine. We bought nice new furniture and set up housekeeping for ourselves and for the first week we were happy. Then he decided he wanted his mother and couldn't live without her. I thought that he was over his honeymoon and was not serious. I was wrong. He only loves his mother. I told him that if this was the case we had better break up housekeeping and he could go to his home and I to mine. He said that would be a scandal, and he said that he would love me and his mother and I would love him and his mother. I said that I would love him and his mother and I would love him and his mother. I said that I would love him and his mother and I would love him and his mother.

Dorothy Dix

Answer: Your husband is a pathological case and you should take him to a good psychiatrist and let science clarify his confused emotions. Perhaps a psychiatrist can make him see that the love of his mother and wife, do not conflict, but each has its place in a well-ordered normal life.

In the meantime go to your mother-in-law and have a frank talk with her. She is the key to the whole situation. Make her realize that her son's excessive affection for her is not only wrecking his happiness but is driving him insane, and ask her to cut your apron string and let him be well.

If he has courage enough to do this and to make her see that his life no longer centers about her but about his wife, and that his greatest love should be given to his wife instead of to her, and especially if she has the courage to let her husband go away for a while so that there will be no mother's home to go to and no mother to run to with a tale of everything that has happened to him, all will be well.

He will learn to do without Mother and to depend upon you for the babying that Mother gave him. He will come to think of the house as his set-up as his home and begin to take an interest in it. In a word, he will get married. And he will find that all of his love for you has come back.

The reason that he thinks now that he has ceased to love you is because his love for his mother is fighting against his love for you, and somehow somewhere one is giving him his love with the strongest claim on him. If he should go back to his mother, he would die for love of you.

But what a crime a woman commits when she fosters a mother complex in her son! Not that they monopolize them, they spoil them, they ensnare them, they never let them grow up, they keep them dependent on her, they never let them take their own life, they never let them be. In reality, Madame, a petted, white-haired dandy never grows to man's estate. He remains a perpetual child.

Fortunately, Mother's darling generally refrains from marrying because he never finds anybody just like Mother to marry, but when he does marry, he is unhappy and discontented and makes his wife miserable.

DOROTHY DIX.

What To Do Handwriting Analyzed

By MURIEL STAFFORD
The writing of the young woman who is the subject of this analysis is particularly significant. She is one of the unusual persons who have two so widely different aspects about equally balanced. They are both so strong they seem to be in equilibrium. If the writer expresses only one side of her nature and is forced to ignore the other, she may be disappointed and really unhappy.

"Sometimes I feel as if I must be a man, and sometimes I feel as if I must be a woman. I can't help writing the other way."—Dorothy Ainsworth.

Here are the two signatures she gives me.

Answer—No girl and her escort should walk past the chapter at the head of the receiving line without introducing themselves at any point. When approaching the chapter the girl might say, "Mr. Middleton, I am Dorothy Powers, and my husband is Mr. Packard." If the girl does not know the name of the chapter she should simply mention her name and that of her escort. The chapter would then naturally introduce her to Mr. Packard and Mr. Packard, I am Mr. Middleton.

PUZZLED.
Can't you imagine the decided pose with which the writer would say, "I am Dorothy Ainsworth" when she wrote in the first signature? And the second signature in a manner in which would say "I am Dorothy Ainsworth" when she turned to her other, more natural self?

It is interesting to note how much alike most of the small letters are in the two signatures. The figures, which appear at first glance to be completely dissimilar, are really the same. The slant and you'll find the letter formations on the whole are strikingly similar. No matter how our moods change, there are underlying qualities that stay with us and always reflect in any spontaneous sample of writing. I might also say even when we deliberately attempt to change our handwriting, the same qualities creep out after a while.

If your skin is itchy, try this pinching massage movement after you have used cleansing cream. With thumb and first finger go over your face from the forehead to the chin. Do not do it too vigorously, but with a gentle pinching movement. Feel the blood surge to the surface?

Cool Dishes Please When Days Are Warm

By MARY E. DAGUE
Did you ever stop to think how, along with keeping the food cool, your refrigerator can keep you cool, too?

It can, indeed, if you use a bit of forethought, plan meals that will keep the refrigerator cool. In the morning, keep the refrigerator until shortly on. All salted meats, such as ham, corned beef, and sausage, should be kept in the refrigerator until the evening time and then be reheated. The family will enjoy these meats very much. They won't say like ham, but they will say like ham.

Many men in the prepared, ready-made dishes, such as the same dish in which they were reheated. When you put them in the oven and serve them the next day, they will be just as good as new.

Most summer appetizers—fruit cocktails, jellied soups and vegetable jellies—can be made in advance and kept in the refrigerator until the evening time. They will be just as good as new.

MADE SALAD EARLY
The salad is the perfect dish to prepare in advance. It can be made in the morning and kept in the refrigerator until the evening time. It will be just as good as new.

It is no trick to get comfortable when the weather is hot. The well-known shop for children's shoes. The guardians of the shoe-makers, long since realized that the child is better to the man. Most of the time, the child is better to the man. Most of the time, the child is better to the man.

When shoes are new, it is an elegant idea to have a shoe in a shoe-chest chair and have his new coat polished. A cooling cream new-looking for a long time, prevents skinning and keeps out water. Mother can do it herself with a good commercial preparation.

CARE MAKES THEM LAST
When shoes should be cleaned when taken off, not just before wearing. Put on damp they clean shoes. Cleaned, tried and dried thoroughly, they stay clean much longer.

They folk under two are better off in high shoes. Slippers are worn but there is a great deal of them for them later. Support the today's work.

Which "shoe-hub" is new? Shoes should be wide enough and long enough to allow for growth when the weight is on the feet. In the morning, put on a good pair of shoes. Never let them be too tight.

Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight.

Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight. Never let them be too tight.

COMMERCIAL TAXPAYERS

Taxpayers Will Be Hard Hit If System Falls Into Disrepair

Hon. W. N. Chant, Minister of Agriculture, Urges Albertans to Take Interest in Lethbridge Project.

Success of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project means millions to the people of Alberta, declared Hon. W. N. Chant, minister of agriculture in commenting on the recent report taken among taxpayers in the district. "If the project goes to disrepair, the taxpayers will not only lose the capital cost, but other financial considerations as well. Therefore it is up to all to take an interest in this project."

The Minister's comment was made following an analysis of the vote on the referendum. A strong campaign has been carried on in the Lethbridge district for a referendum and representations had been made to the government that 50 per cent of the people in the district wanted a change of administration. It is presumed that those desiring a change turned out in large numbers and were counted as voters.

FOUR QUESTIONS
The questionnaire on which returns were filed had four questions. The first was "Are you in favor of turning the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project over to the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation Trust to administer the affairs of the district?" The vote was 186 in favor and 144 against. This meant that 25 per cent of the voters actually voted in favor of the project.

The second question was "Are you in favor of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project being operated and maintained through water user associations?" The vote was 173 in favor and 144 against. This meant that 25 per cent of those entitled to vote, voted in favor of the project.

THIRD QUESTION
The third question was "Are you in favor of a levy of two cents per acre to maintain the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project?" The vote was 173 in favor and 144 against. This meant that 25 per cent of the voters expressed approval of the project.

The fourth question was "Are you in favor of the present form of administration?" The answer was 173 in favor and 144 against. This meant that 25 per cent of the voters expressed approval of the present form of administration.

There is a conflict between questions No. 1 and question No. 4. The government is not contemplating a change in the administration at the present time. The Minister declared.

Premier Back on Wednesday
Premier William Abernethy is expected to return to this city on Wednesday after his visit to the coast, to attend the opening of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation project.

The Premier returned to the city from Vancouver on Friday and remained at Calgary over the weekend.

He was scheduled to leave for Lethbridge on Monday, to be joined by Hon. J. B. Macdonald, minister of agriculture, and Hon. C. C. Ross, minister of justice, for a luncheon meeting of the Board of Agriculture and the Premier will be addressed by the minister.

Local Inventor Builds Man-Auto Trailer
Here is the strange collapsible trailer described in the story below. When not in use it is folded-down and looks very much like a coffin.

After waiting patiently for someone to design an auto trailer to suit him, C. Pullman, of 11549 120 street, built one from his own design, and he is now towing the finished article behind his sedan.

The prime requisites of his "dream trailer" were to be lightweight, comfort and manoeuvrability. Bearing this in mind, he set about the building of the "Pullman Trailer." He was determined to have a collapsible trailer that would collapse behind his sedan.

The apparatus that extends the roof of the trailer is composed of four "non-corrugated" tubes in the interior of the travelling home which are raised or lowered by a system of pulleys and ropes.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The white cloud shouted, "Hey, black cloud, while I'm around you're not allowed. You merely cast dark shadows on the people down below. They like to have it nice and clear, and that's the reason I am here. I send reflections from the sun. They're fond of me, I know."

(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The dark cloud frowned and put the finger to his lip. "Now, am I right. I don't see why I should have been nice and white, like you. 'Oh! Ruler Rain's the one to blame. He fills me full of rain drops, and there's nothing I can do. 'Oh, woe is me, and right now I am going to drop out of the sky.' The next thing that the Times saw Scouty rained right up and knew, the black cloud bit the earth. 'So you want to be white instead of black. Well, we are going to help. We'll try for all we're worth.'"

Curious World

"ROCK OIL" WAS THE NAME FOR PETROLEUM, UNTIL THE LATIN WORDS, "OLEUM," MEANING OIL, AND "PETRA," MEANING ROCK, WERE SUBSTITUTED.

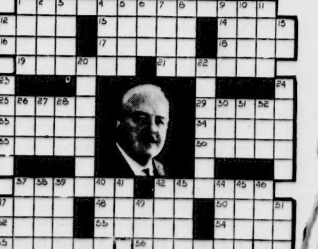

The sugar maple is one of America's greatest all-purpose trees. Besides its ability to furnish the human race with sugar, it makes excellent lumber, where durable wood is needed, such as in the manufacture of automobile parts, furniture and flooring, and it is a beautiful tree when planted for shade.
